AUTHOR'S NOTE.

IT is known to many who will see these pages that the writer has been engaged for some years in the compilation of the Family of Gilman. Like many similar undertakings, the collection was begun merely as a pastime, and was so pursued until at the solicitation of friends, arrangements were made for the publication of such information as should be elicited. In pursuance of this design an outline sketch of the family in America has been prepared and submitted for the correction of errors, and in order that still more history may be obtained. The present outline of the family in England is presented to the descendants of Edward Gilman there for the same purpose.

The two parts are to be published together, as soon as it may properly be done, and the friends in England will assist much in making the final publication perfect, by communicating to the author any particulars which may be omitted.

The author desires to have the name of every member of the family, with the following information concerning each:

1. When and where born or baptized.

2. Biographical sketch.

3. Wife's name the name of her parents, with date and place of her birth, marriage and death.

4. Name in full of all children, with dates and places of birth and death, and all other details usually found in family records.

A reference will probably be made in the final publication to such other branches of the family as may exist, and of which the author may become cognizant. The author has lately been put in correspondence with a member of the family of Gillman of Rock House near Ballinadee, county Cork, Ireland, Henry Gillman, Esq., now connected with the U. S. coast survey, and lately of Detroit, Mich., U. S. A. Mr Gillman is connected with James Gillman of Oakmount, and the others of the name in county Cork.

This sketch is illustrated with a portrait on steel of Professor Chandler Robbins Gilman, M. D., of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York. The portrait is engraved by Ritchie, and is inserted as a sample of the style in which others are to be made for the work, several of which are either finished or in the engraver's hands.

A small view representing the residence of the late Samuel Heyhoe Le Neve Gilman is inserted, and is from a photograph kindly furnished by James Feltham of Hingham. Other larger wood cuts are in preparation. The printing, executed by Mr. Munsell, well known for his success in this peculiar style of work speaks its own praise.

It is proposed to publish a genealogy which shall be a credit to the Gilman name, and a monument to the worth of our ancestors, both in its mechanical execution, and in the intrinsic value of its facts, and to effect this it is necessary that every one should take that interest in the undertaking which will lead him to see that his record at least, is correctly made.

All are therefore earnestly requested to communicate what items they can to the undersigned, of whom further information may be had

The family's obedient Servant.

THE LATE MR. S. H. LE NEVE GILMAN.

In our last we recorded the death on the [illegible] Samuel Heyhoe Le Neve Gilman, of Hingham, Esq., [illegible] of his age. His remains were interred on Tues[illegible]. The funeral was attended by his relatives and friends, [illegible] of the tradesmen and inhabitants of the P[illegible]. During [illegible] long life he resided in his native town of Hingham, in [illegible] his family have been settled for many generations, and [illegible] held an high and honorable position. [illegible] was honoured with the friendship of many of the noble and worthy of our land; in his own circle he was [illegible] friend; and to all, whether in prosper[illegible] of [illegible] afforded all the assistance in his power, both [illegible] purse. As a lawyer, his talents and high [illegible] character procured for him the respect of his [illegible] and the confidence of his [illegible]. He was [illegible] as the agent of the conservative [illegible] unbefriended zeal [illegible] servative cause, and [illegible] mund Wodehouse, Esq., one of the late members for Norfolk. His name is so identified with the prosperity of Hingham, that there is scarcely a person in the parish of Hingham, living in the place, who has not been benefitted by his numerous and important undertakings. He has died full of years and full of honors. He has carried with him to his grave the respect and esteem of all who knew his private worth; and in him many have lost an inestimable friend, a kind master, and a generous benefactor. Of him it may in truth be said, that a good man and good christian has passed from amongst us.

Mrs. Gilman is now residing in Hingham, and it is to her kindness that I owe the opportunity of making copies of valuable documents preserved by her late husband. Mr. Gilman had made the history of the Gilman Family a matter of much study and expensive research, and to his pains the family owes a debt which can perhaps never be repaid. Through the kind offices of Mr. James Feltham, who was long associated with Mr. Gilman, views in Hingham have been obtained and those which are not presented in this sketch are to appear in the completed work.

The above are all the Gilmans in England whose connection with this branch has as yet been traced.

GILMANS OF LONDON.

The family of which Ellis James Gilman, Esq., of [illegible], London, is one. I have made some efforts to trace [illegible] success, as yet. I am under obligations to him and to his brother, R. J. Gilman, Esq., of The Manor, [illegible], for valuable information concerning the family in Sussex and Ireland.

The two following epitaphs were kindly copied for me by the last named gentleman.

In Reigate church.

Against the north aisle of the church is a Brass Plate with this inscription:

Ecce jacent subter pedibus simul ossa duorum
Anthonii Gilmyn conjugis atque sua
Quos pietas, quos vera fides conjunxit amore
De quorum Carolus sanguine solus erat

Gillman of Oakmount.

Gillman. Jas., Esq., of Oakmount, Co Cork, J. P., born 14 April, 1804, married 3 March, 1842, Elizabeth Sarah, only daughter of the late Herbert Gillman, Esq., of Bennet's Grove, Co. Cork, and has issue,

James Herbert, born 22d Sept., 1845,
Amelia Dorcas, ———

Lineage The Gillmans of Ireland are stated in an old family tradition to be descended from a Christian knight of that name who, during the crusades was engaged in single combat with a Saracen, whose right leg he cut off with a sabre cut This capture is commemorated in the coat of arms; and the crest a griffin's head with a bear's paw in its mouth, being emblematic of strength together with the motto, "Not by word, but by deed" tend to confirm the legend. The first who settled in Ireland, were two officers in king William's army, 1690, one of whom survived, and received a grant of land. It is supposed that they had previously come to England from Normandy in France. This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important, and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it. This work was reproduced from the original artifact, and remains as true to the original work as possible. Therefore, you will see the original copyright references, library stamps (as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world), and other notations in the work.

This work is in the public domain in the United States of America, and possibly other nations. Within the United States, you may freely copy and distribute this work, as no entity (individual or corporate) has a copyright on the body of the work.

As a reproduction of a historical artifact, this work may contain missing or blurred pages, poor pictures, errant marks, etc. Scholars believe, and we concur, that this work is important enough to be preserved, reproduced, and made generally available to the public. We appreciate your support of the preservation process, and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant.
